“Qualitative information, financial statements, etc.”

1. Qualitative information regarding consolidated business results

The Japanese economy in the period under review started to trend modestly higher—as indicated by signs of an improvement in exports and some manufacturing sectors as well as a recovery in corporate earnings. However, the underlying future direction of the economy has remained unpredictable amid a weak recovery in capital expenditure and increasingly deteriorating employment conditions and consumer spending.

Although new orders from nuclear power generation facilities moved in line with initial estimates, overall orders received totaled just ¥104,715 million, due to deferrals of projects for industrial-use power generation facilities and general industrial applications. Sales revenue amounted to ¥94,413 million, despite projects for general industrial applications being deferred to later periods. Operating profit dropped to ¥6,605 million (-1.2% over the 3rd quarter of FY 2009), whereas ordinary profit rose to ¥7,106 million (+8.0% over the 3rd quarter of FY 2009), as a result of measures to increase efficiency and reduce costs, yielding a quarterly net profit of ¥4,089 million, up 15.7% from the year before.

< Power Systems Division >

New orders declined as projects for overseas industrial-use power- generation facilities were postponed. Sales revenue was affected by decreased orders from large thermal power generation facilities, hydraulic power generation facilities, and transformer substations.

< Nuclear Systems Division >

Both new orders and sales developed in line with initial estimates. Sales revenue saw an increased number of regular inspections and remodeling projects on a year-on-year basis.

< Infrastructure and Industrial Systems Division >

Both new orders and sales revenue declined, prompted by the deferrals of projects, particularly in general industrial applications.

2. Qualitative information regarding consolidated financial conditions

Consolidated assets at the end of the period under review totaled ¥139,210 million, reflecting a decline of ¥11,878 million compared with the end of the previous fiscal year. Main factors were a ¥13,289 million increase in costs on uncompleted construction contracts, a ¥9,151 million decline in total cash, deposits, and group deposits with Toshiba Capital Co., Ltd., and a ¥14,660 million drop in notes receivable and accounts receivable from completed construction contracts, etc.

Consolidated liabilities at the end of the period under review totaled ¥62,285 million, declining ¥14,422 million less compared with the end of the previous fiscal year. This was mainly due to a ¥1,028 million increase in advances received on construction in progress, a ¥9,341 million decline in notes payable and construction accounts payable, and a ¥4,727 million reduction in accrued income taxes.

Consolidated net assets at the end of the period under review totaled ¥76,925 million, an increase of ¥2,544 million compared with the end of the previous fiscal year. This was mainly due to a higher retained earnings.

3. Qualitative information regarding projected consolidated results

The prospect for the economy going forward remains dismal, while signs of economic recovery appeared in sight, as shown by rising exports and industrial output. Judging from these trends, we forecast that our earnings will mostly trace the levels of expected earnings. We thus kept the consolidated earnings estimates released in October 30, 2009 unchanged.

4. Others

(1) Material changes in subsidiaries during the period (change in the scope of consolidation due to change in specified subsidiaries): None

(2) Application of simplified accounting procedures and special accounting procedures for the preparation of quarterly consolidated financial statements

1) Application of simplified accounting procedures: Not applied.

2) Application of special accounting procedures for the preparation of quarterly consolidated financial statements: Not applied.

(3) Change in accounting principles, procedures, and presentation, etc., concerning the preparation of quarterly consolidated financial statement

Change in revenue and cost recognition standards for completed work

Revenue and income from sub-contracted work were previously accounted for on a percentage-of-completion basis with regard to long-term contracts (construction periods of at least 12 months and sub-contract value of at least ¥1,000 million) and on a completion-basis for other work. Since the first quarter of the current fiscal year, the Company applies the Accounting Standard for Construction Contracts (Business Accounting Standard No. 15; December 27, 2007) and the Application Guideline for the Accounting Standard for Construction Contracts (Business Accounting Standard Application Guideline No. 18; December 27, 2007), to the effect that the percentage-of-completion method (proportionate cost method for estimated percentages of completion) is applied to percentages of completion whose deliverables are assured carried out between contract inception in the first quarter until the end of the third quarter. The completion-basis method is applied to other work. Effects on income from this accounting change are negligible.
